76. Brushed matt black
This finish is used on handles made of aluminium. The handle is firstly anodised in black, and secondly brushed to create the right surface.

91. Brushed anthracite
If the handle is made of aluminium, this finish is created using an anthracite anodising, which is then brushed. If it is a Zamac item, we first do a black chrome finish, which is then brushed and finally coated with a clear protective lacquer.

99. Matt Black
This finish is used to create a matt black surface on Zamac products. The product is plated and then protected with a clear lacquer – like we do with our inox look finish.

9005. Black
This finish is created in two different ways depending on the metal of which the handle is made. If the handle is made of aluminium, the finish is anodised in black. If it is made from Zamac or stainless steel, the finish is created by using a matt black lacquer.
